Dear Alaskan,

I'm pleased to share some of the incredible highlights for Alaska contained within the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, which the President signed into law this week.

This bipartisan infrastructure package is one of the most consequential legislative efforts I've ever worked on. I'm proud to have played a leading role in its creation, and have many of you to thank for helping to pinpoint ways to address Alaska's unique and pressing infrastructure needs.

Over the next decade, we will be able to build and modernize our core basic infrastructure—more and better roads, safer bridges, our marine highway system, and expanded ports and airports. We'll invest in clean drinking water systems, reliable broadband, new energy innovation and resilience projects, and so much more—without raising taxes or worsening inflation.

The Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act will impact communities across Alaska. I look forward to working with you to maximize the assistance we bring to our state, and to seeing the benefits this historic measure brings for generations to come.

Stay safe and be well,
